City of South Fulton Code Enforcement Seeking Volunteers to Assist Project C.L.E.A.N

(CITY OF SOUTH FULTON, GA – May 18, 2022) – Want to help beautify the neighborhood? Look no further than the Code Cares senior outreach program offered by the City of South Fulton's Code Enforcement Department.

The program helps senior and elderly residents with certain outdoor items that they may find challenging, such as mowing, raking leaves, picking up litter or debris and pulling trash bins to and from the curb. It addresses needs that often are seen during enforcement efforts around the city.

"We find senior citizens with violations and repairs they cannot afford to fix," Code Enforcement Director Brian Morris said. "Many of them have been in their homes for 30 to 40 years. We wanted to help find solutions to their issues, rather than issuing fines, fees and liens, which could escalate the problem."

Residents must be at least 65 years old to be eligible for the program, which is supported by volunteers, including residents, civic organizations and staff members who want to help the senior community. Other eligibility factors include government assistance, financial hardships having no other able-bodied residents in the home. To volunteer or register for assistance, contact tangela.mott@cityofsouthfultonga.gov.
